1. What kinds of special educational needs are provided for at Holy Cross?

Additional and/or different provision is made in school for children whose needs may fall into one or more of the four categories identified in the 2014 SEND Code of Practice:

- Cognition and Learning
- Sensory, Medical and Physical
- Communication and Interaction
- Social, Emotional and Mental Health

2. How do we identify children with SEND and assess their needs?

Parents and carers are encouraged to inform us if they know of any learning needs their child has. Children's needs may be identified during home and school visits, or from previous settings before the child starts school. Children's learning and development are continually monitored and assessed by class teachers, which enables them to identify pupils with additional needs. At Holy Cross we use Target Tracker, an electronic assessment tool, which monitors progress and attainment. Our Assessment and Feedback Policy offers further information and is available from school.

Each term Pupil Progress Meetings are held between Class Teachers and the Senior Leadership of the School (Executive Headteacher, Head of School, English and Maths Lead Teachers, Early Years Leader and SENCO) to review pupil's progress and attainment and agree on future support.

Additional assessment tools may be used in school by the SENCO to obtain further understanding of a child's learning difficulties. These include:

- Dyslexia Portfolio
- British Picture Vocabulary Scale III
- Ravens Coloured Progressive Matrices
- York Assessment of Reading Comprehension
- Phonological Awareness Training
- Social Communication Questionnaire

Following agreement with parents or carers, we may refer a pupil for further assessment of their needs to outside professional or support agencies. Many of these are based at Kaleidoscope, a partnership between Lewisham Healthcare and Lewisham Borough's Directorate of Children and Young People and the South London and Maudsley NHS Foundation Trust. Kaleidoscope brings together specialist community services for health, disability, mental health, education and social care.

Further information on identification and assessment of pupil3 with SEND is in our SEND Policy which is available on the school's website. It should be read in conjunction with Holy Cross's Accessibility Plan also available on the school's website. <http://www.holycross.lewisham.sch.uk/policies/>

3. How do we consult parents of pupils with SEND and involve them in their child's education?

Positive collaboration between parents and staff enables us to achieve the best outcomes for children. Parents are encouraged to share information about their child to help us plan the most appropriate support for them. Class Teachers and/or the SENCO will discuss with parents the reason for adding their child to the Special Educational Needs register and the support with learning provided.

Parents' Evenings are held in the Autumn and Spring Term each year. At the Autumn meeting, Class Teachers (with the SENCO where possible) and parents meet to discuss the child's strengths, interests and needs. The Spring Term meeting reviews progress so far and discusses updated outcomes to focus on. In the Summer Term, parents receive their child's Annual School Report showing progress, attainment and future steps.

The SEND Team holds occasional Coffee Mornings with guest speakers for parents of pupils with SEND. The SEND Team is available to answer questions and provide information about the support offered to pupils in school.

Meetings are arranged between parents and professionals from external agencies who have assessed pupils, to share information and discuss the support needed by the child.

As well as speaking to Class Teachers about their child, parents can contact the SENCO in person, by phone or email.

4. How we consult young people with SEND and involve them in their education.

Teachers and support staff talk to pupils about their learning needs, styles and targets. Children are involved in deciding what targets are important to them. We work with children to identify and develop resources that help them learn and become increasingly independent. Live marking and pupil conferencing play an important part in these ongoing discussions.

Children with Education, Health and Care Plans produce reports for their Annual Review meetings, with appropriate support where needed. Termly pupil surveys, Class and School Council meetings are all important ways for children to be involved in their education.

At times of transition to different key stages within Holy Cross or to a new school, staff consider individual pupils' needs to make personalised transition plans, including additional visits and photo booklets.

5. What arrangements are there for assessing and reviewing children's progress towards outcomes?

We use the "Assess, plan, do, review" cycle, whereby teachers are continually assessing pupils' learning through marking of work, discussions with and observations of pupils. Teachers' planning is guided by this continual assessment of pupils' progress. For some children external agencies may carry out specific assessments and reviews. There is an assessment week each term when a range of different assessment tools are used to evaluate progress and attainment. The outcomes are discussed and updated at Pupil Progress meetings with Class Teachers and the Senior Leadership Team. Pupils with an Education, Health and Care Plan (EHCP) are formally reviewed annually at a meeting between parents, staff and, when possible, our SEND Case Officer from the local authority. Early Years pupils in Nursery and Reception will have six monthly reviews of their EHCP.

6. What arrangements are there for supporting children moving between phases of education?

We personalise transition arrangements for pupils according to their needs. The types of support arranged include:

- Home visits
- Visits to prior settings (Nurseries, play groups, schools)
- Meetings with parents or carers
- Visits arranged for pupil joining Holy Cross
- Visits to new classroom and to meet the new teacher
- Transition booklets with photos (copy for home and copy for school)
- Personalised social stories to help children prepare for transition
- Opportunities to talk to children from the new year group
- SENCO and Team to visit receiving school of pupils leaving Holy Cross
- SEND Team accompany pupils on visit to new school
- Invitations to SENCO and new Class Teacher at receiving school to visit Holy Cross and meet pupil in a familiar setting
- Personalised travel support for pupils starting new Secondary School

7. What is our approach to teaching children with SEND?

Our aim is to support all children to fulfil their unique potential and to become as independent in their learning as possible. We have very high expectations of pupils with SEND and an absolute commitment to support them in achieving their best. Class Teachers and Support Staff ensure they know pupils' needs and strengths. All pupils with SEND will be taught in class with their peers whenever possible and will take part in extra-curricular activities. Some pupils with SEND will benefit from small group or individual support outside of the classroom for part of the day. This is planned according to pupils' needs.

8. How are adaptations made to the curriculum and learning environment of children with SEND?

Quality First Teaching provides for most pupils' needs and learning styles and additional support is planned for those who need it. Planning ensures work is set at an appropriate level for different pupils' abilities and needs. Classroom environments are stimulating, supportive and well-resourced. A range of equipment is available to personalise the learning environment for pupils and to support pupils with additional needs. Pupils will be seated to enable them to focus and work well. Some pupils will work in Learning Support rooms for a lesson or part of a lesson, with a higher degree of adult support. The SENCO, Teachers and Support Staff work closely to develop and evaluate the most effective support for pupils with SEND.

9. How do we ensure the expertise and training of staff to support children with SEND, including specialist expertise, will be secured?

The SENCO supports staff in planning for children with SEND. Continuous professional development is arranged according to the School Development Plan and needs of the pupils.

Holy Cross Staff have access to a wide range of professional development opportunities to enhance their knowledge and expertise in supporting pupils with SEND. Training may be provided by external trainers, delivered in house, or staff may attend specific training courses run by outside agencies.

The SENCO, Laura Curras, has the Masters Level National Award for SENCOs. Cathie Clayden and Izzy Warren are Higher Level Teaching Assistants (HLTAs) and are part of the SEND Team. Members of SEND support staff have undertaken several courses across all areas of special educational need and have a wide range of expertise and experience. All staff are trained regularly in the safe administration of medicine to pupils.

Holy Cross purchases a Service Level Agreement with the following Lewisham Teams: Educational Psychology, Specific Learning Difficulty, Drumbeat Autistic Spectrum Outreach, Inclusion Outreach and Speech and Language. The SEND Team and staff work closely with these agencies to review and improve practice. Additional support for pupils with social, emotional and mental health needs are provided by an Inclusion Outreach Teacher and Art Psychotherapists from the Inclusion Outreach Team.

10. How do we evaluate the effectiveness of the provision made for children with SEND?

Teaching and learning are evaluated using the "Assess, plan, do, review" cycle. This is embedded in our teaching practice. Teaching and support staff collaborate in this process. Ongoing assessment and Termly Pupil Progress Meetings evaluate the provision formally and future support is planned according to pupils' needs and the impact of interventions. Pupils are encouraged to consider their own learning styles to help them develop their self-awareness and to support them in overcoming barriers to learning.

11. How are children with SEND enabled to engage in activities available to pupils in school who do not have SEND?

We adhere to the guidance in the Equality Act 2010 to:

- Eliminate discrimination
- Advance equality of opportunity
- Foster good relations

Additional support is provided to enable children with SEND to be as fully involved as possible in all aspects of school life including extra-curricular activities. Individual risk-assessments are carried out, where appropriate, to ensure pupil's safety. Each term we monitor the numbers of pupils with SEND attending school clubs and encourage them to participate.

12. What support for improving emotional and social development do we offer?

We understand how important positive relationships are in the social and emotional development of our pupils. For some pupils this can be very challenging and we provide teaching, nurture and resources to help them develop successful relationships with their peers. Staff ensure they get to know the pupils and are available to listen to them. We are alert to any changes in behaviour and offer support when needed. We work in partnership with parents and carers to offer support to pupils and their families at times of difficulty. At Holy Cross pupils' emotional and social development is supported by the following:

- Robust safeguarding procedures
- Prompt liaison between appropriate staff to ensure we are alert to and can respond promptly to children's needs
- Buddy system between Year 6 and Reception
- Peer and adult mentors
- Personal, Social and Health Education lessons
- Class circle times
- Prayer dedications
- Lego Groups
- Personalised transition arrangements
- Social stories
- Support from the Parish – St Vincent de Paul Society
- Inclusion Outreach sessions for individual pupils or small groups
- ELSA (Emotional Literacy Support Assistant) Programme
- Art Psychotherapy

13. Who are the other professionals who may be involved with my child in school?

After assessment and discussion with parents or carers and staff, pupils may be referred to an external professional or support service. For many referrals, parents will work with the SENCO to complete the necessary documentation. Please see point 2 for list of and links to professionals and agencies. External professionals will usually meet or speak to parents or carers at Holy Cross School as part of the assessment process of their child.

14. How do we support children with SEND looked after by the local authority?

We monitor these pupils' academic and social development carefully. Regular meetings are held between school, carers and local authority agencies involved with the children. We are sensitive to the children's family situations and support them as needed to fulfil their potential at Holy Cross. An annual Personal Education Plan (PEP) meeting is held with key personnel to carefully track the progress of the pupil and to support them to achieve and to be aspirational. Appropriate personalised pastoral support is offered.
